Once a sanctuary for the magnificent Asiatic cheetah, the region nestled between Mayamey and Abbas Abad in Semnan Province now stands as a killing ground for this endangered species. Within this vast expanse of Khar Turan National Park, it is estimated that a mere 20 cats of this rare breed still roam. However, their survival hangs by a thread, as the transit road from Mayamey to Abbas Abad, stretching 50 kilometers along the southern part of the park, has become a deadly obstacle course.
